TEN CENTS A WEEK

AUGUSTA IS RALLYING

the Effects of the Late Disastrous Flood.

WORK OF REPAIR HAS BEGUN

Now Believed that When All the Works Are in that the Death Will Be Found To Be as Great as Life.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 31.—Saturday morning dawned cold and dreary, with a pall of clouds hanging low over the city, the weather adding to the gloom of the hundreds of homeless people who are shivering in the east.

The city was again in total darkness Friday night, with the exception of a few blocks on Broad street, flickering gaslights gave a weird glow to the scene of wreck and ruin in the trail of the flood.

City Rallies from Blow.

Augusta has rallied from the disaster blow that was dealt Wednesday when the Savannah burst its banks, and today scores of people are working in the streets with shovels. Clerks and property are in their shirt sleeves digging the mud from stores and offices on nearly every street corner. They are throwing out the water from the cellars.

Though it will be days and weeks before the last traces of the flood are removed and business is wholly normal, it will not be more than twenty-four hours until the greater part of the damage has been repaired and the city is in normal conditions again.

Deaths and Damage.

Deaths from the lowlands and outlying districts are coming in fast, and the prediction that fifty lives have been lost may be realized in the next few hours.

In various parts of the city it has been ascertained that the damage to property is even greater than the estimated $2,000,000.

Damage that appeared to have been made up since the water has dissipated and given an opportunity for repair.

There has been no disorder and no looting reported, and the city is fast recovering from the scars of the waters.

Outside cities are coming to the aid of the town with contributions of money and supplies. Many people are about destitute.

Atlanta Gives to Sufferers.

Atlanta, Aug. 31.—The general assembly appropriated $500 for the relief of the sufferers in Augusta from the flood. It was agreed that appropriation would be increased as soon as it was ascertained that more money was needed later on by the people of the stricken city.

A resolution was adopted calling on the citizens to contribute as liberally as possible to the relief fund being raised.

LAST HOPE DISPELLED.

Missing Members of a Rowing Club Believed Drowned.

San Francisco, Aug. 31.—The findings of the rowing barge in which the missing members of the South San Francisco Rowing Club set out for a row on the bay Wednesday, the day after having been heard from, dispelled the last hope that the missing might still be alive.

The barge was picked up in a bathtub on the Berkeley shore on Friday night. A strong current was running at the time the barge was out and it is supposed that the crew did not make headway on their trip. No theory for the accident or the condition of the boat has been advanced.

The boys, Bert Fry, Frank McLean, Owen Healy, Parker Ashford, Robert Hackett, all between the ages of sixteen and eighteen years, were seen Wednesday morning on the bay from the morning station on Yerba Buena Island.

Several Small Towns in Georgia Visited by Expert Cracksmen.

Albany, Ga., Aug. 31.—The authorities of every little town in this part of the state are on the qui vive in the hope of apprehending a gang of burglars that has been going from place to place for months past, breaking into stores and other places and making away with booty of greater or less value.

Ochlochnee, a little station between Albany and Thomasville, waked up on Friday morning to discover that ten places had been broken into, during the night, including the depot, the bank and a number of stores.

A short time ago Baconton, in the adjoining county to that in which Ochlochnee is situated, had nearly all its stores burglarized, and a few weeks earlier Poulam had a similar experience.

The methods which the gang employs have baffled the constables, marshals and deputy sheriffs in every place where burglaries have occurred.

A MEMORABLE EVENT.

Melbourne Preparing to Receive American Battleship Fleet.

Melbourne, Wednesday, July 29.—

The approaching visit of the American fleet to the capital of the Australian commonwealth, promises to be the most memorable military event in the history of Australia. The welcome to the American officers and men by the people of Australia will reach its climax here. The federal, state and municipal authorities have been busily planning to receive the fleet for about two months. Many committee meetings have been held to arrange the details of the reception. Private organizations are also eagerly co-operating with the authorities to give the Americans a cordial welcome.

The public entertainment of the Americans will be on a more extensive scale than has ever been known here. The state government alone expects to spend about $50,000 in entertainments, not to mention the expenses of the federal government and the municipalities composing Greater Melbourne.

FATAL HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Fatal Wreck on St. Louis and San Francisco Road.

Fort Smith, Ark., Aug. 31.—Southbound St. Louis and San Francisco passenger train No. 1 collided head-on with a work train at a point a mile and a half east of Hardin, Okla., 150 miles from Fort Smith Friday.

Both engines were derailed, but the cars were not damaged. A. J. Ballard, engineer of the work train, was killed; Engineer Campbell and his fireman, name unknown, and Fireman Van Noyner, of the work train, were slightly hurt. Thomas Graham, conductor of the work train, is reported to be missing.

Fire Chiefs Elected Officers.

Columbus, O., Aug. 31.—Filmore Tyson, chief of the fire department of Louisville, Ky., has been unanimously elected president of the International Fire Engineers. George W. Horton, chief of the fire department of Baltimore, Md., was elected as first vice president; John Thompson, of Toronto, Canada, was chosen second vice president; James McFall, of Roanoke, Va., as secretary, and the treasurer, O. C. Larkins, of Dayton, O., was re-elected. They concluded to meet next year at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Well Known Playwright Dead.

New Orleans, Aug. 31.—Espy W. H. Williams, a well known playwright, died at his home here, aged fifty-six years. Mr. Williams was one of the charter members of the American Dramatist Club and was the author of a number of plays presented by famous actors.

Brunswick Lady Suicides.

POLICE ARE PROBING

VICTIM MAY LOSE HIS LIFE

Shooting of the Wealthy Baltimore Clubman on the Boardwalk at Atlantic City Has Created a Sensation on Account of Mystery Attached.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 31.—C. B. Roberts, who was mysteriously shot on the boardwalk last Wednesday night, is still in the Atlantic City hospital, and is very weak. The bullet, which penetrated the liver, it is feared, caused a wound which may prove fatal.

Firm in the belief that the solution of the mystery surrounding the shooting will follow an investigation of the movements of W. S. G. Williams on Tuesday and Wednesday nights after his return to Baltimore from a sanitarium, where he had been for weeks, is a thread upon which the police are at work.

The fact that Williams had been in a sanitarium undergoing treatment and not abroad, was revealed to the police by his wife, who was with Roberts in a rolling chair at the time of the shooting.

According to the police she contradicts a statement given out from Williams' law office. The police of this city have entirely abandoned the theory that the assailant of the Baltimore man was a highwayman. They are awaiting reports from Baltimore authorities who are tracing the whereabouts and actions of Mr. Williams on the night of the shooting.

Disclosures by Negro.

The disclosures just made by the negro who was pushing the chair in which Roberts and Mrs. Williams were riding, are construed important by the police.

When questioned in regard to the conversation which passed between Roberts and Mrs. Williams during the chair ride, Jesse Jackson, the negro, said:

"I did not hear anything except one remark of the gentleman. I heard him say just before the man with a mask came up to us: 'You have broken my heart.' I did not hear what the lady answered."

In addition to the fact first related by him in regard to the shooting, Jackson now says that the masked stranger applied an epithet to Roberts as he ordered him to get out of the chair. The negro also insists that he heard no demand for money following the first order "Hold up your hands!"

Highwayman Theory Scouted.

Malcolm Woodruff, chief of police, said:

"The highwayman theory has had little weight with us from the first. The shooting occurred at 10:30 o'clock. The wounded man was taken to the hospital and the woman back to the hotel. As soon as I learned that she was not his wife, I asked 'where was her husband.' I sent several messages to Baltimore before 12 o'clock that night asking the police there to let me know at once whether Williams was in that city. No reply came, and I have not heard one word since from the Baltimore police on that feature."

Said Married Life Was Unhappy.

"Many things that Mrs. Williams has told us of her husband are important as showing their feelings towards each other. She said that her eighteen years of married life have been misery to her. Three times, she declared, she has had her husband put in a sanitarium. Last Tuesday he left the sanitarium and went to Baltimore. According to his wife's assertion, he called her up at the hotel Brighton and asked her to come home with the children. She refused, saying she preferred to remain until Saturday."

In the conversation Williams became aware that Roberts was also at the Brighton. All this Mrs. Williams has told us."

PROHIBITION RULING.

Public Transfer of Liquor From Station to Consignee.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 31.—An important prohibition ruling was made Friday morning when Judge Feagin, of the inferior criminal court of Birmingham, handed down a decision in which he held that protection of the interstate commerce law ceases when freight shipments reach the station of destination, and that public transfer of the liquor from the station to the residence of the consignee is illegal. The case came up on the arrest of a driver of the wagon of a local transfer company for delivering liquor billed from an agency of a brewing company in Memphis to Birmingham addresses.

It was argued in defense that the protection of the interstate commerce law extended until the liquor shipment had been delivered to the residence of the consignee, and it is this point which Judge Feagin overrules. He holds that consignees must call in person for their goods. The decision does not effect express companies.

SERVICE RESTORED.

Telegraph Lines Recover from Damage Caused by Floods.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 31.—Telegraph communication to the east and the flood section has been restored to its normal condition. The Western Union lines were damaged in many places, but they were prepared for and readily restored breakdowns. The Western Union declares their lines were never at any time during the flood and storm without ample facilities to Augusta. Owing to the conditions which existed at Augusta it was a matter of impossibility to effect prompt delivery of telegrams, which necessarily had to be made by boats.

G. O. P. AT WORK.

Plans Laid for a Thorough Campaign in State of Georgia.

Macon, Ga., Aug. 31.—Permanent headquarters for the state republicans have been opened in the Grand building and local party enthusiasts have been put to work to carry the state. Local republicans have laid plans for a thorough campaign and the work will be conducted from this point.

Hill Is for Bryan.

New York, Aug. 31.—Ex-Senator O. B. Hill, former democratic state leader, called on National Chairman Norman E. Mack shortly after his arrival from Europe and told Mr. Mack that he would do all he could to help the campaign for Bryan and Kern. Mr. Hill declined to discuss the political situation with newspaper men, but made known his attitude toward the democratic ticket to Mr. Mack. The ex-senator said he had been abroad for his health, and was feeling fine.

Death List Numbers Fourteen.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 31.—From the office of the Santa Fe railway here a statement was obtained to the effect that the flood at Folsom, N. M., had resulted in a death list of fourteen. The flood, according to railroad bulletins, commenced on Thursday and continued up to the time that communication was interrupted.

30 REPORTED DEAD

Nearly Half the Town of Folsom, N. M., Swept Away.

RESULT OF TERRIBLE FLOOD

Only Stone Buildings and Those on Higher Ground Were Left Standing. Brave Telephone Operator Staid by Post and Lost Life.

Trinidad, Colo., Aug. 31.—Between twenty and thirty dead, nearly half the town swept away, thousands of dollars' damage to the town property, and great loss of live stock, tell briefly the story of the flood at Folsom early Friday.

Twenty-four hours after the disaster the first definite news from the stricken town reached this city when refugees and passengers of a stranded Colorado train reached the city shortly after 3 o'clock Saturday morning.

To the list of ten known, Friday, to have been drowned are added seven more victims.

Many are still missing and several days may elapse before a complete list of the dead is obtainable.

Eye witnesses of the disaster tell of seeing lights flickering for a moment in doomed buildings and seeing the structures crash together as they drifted into the narrow canon and were crushed like bits of pasteboard. Some lights could be seen a distance of nearly a mile down stream before the buildings were finally broken up and the occupants drowned.

Only stone buildings and those on higher ground were left standing.

To Mrs. S. J. Rooks, telephone operator, who lost her life in the flood, many residents owe their escape.

In the face of certain death, this brave woman staid in a doomed building until every method of escape was cut off by water, sending alarms to every resident who had a telephone.

Trinidad, Colo., Aug. 31.—A local undertaking firm has received a message from Folsom, N. M., ordering six coffins for persons drowned there. Folsom is a hundred miles south of Trinidad on the Colorado Southern railroad. The town is reported to have been badly damaged by the flood.

The known dead at Folsom, besides Dan H. Wenger and his two children, are:

T. Wheeler and wife, whose bodies were found buried in the sand. Their house was washed away and it is feared that in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, their two children and Mr. Wheeler's sister were drowned.

TROLLEY CAR STRIKES AUTO.

Widely Known Musician Receives Fatal Injuries at Covina, Cal.

Covina, Cal., Aug. 31.—Professor Fitzgerald, formerly of Chicago, a teacher of music in the public schools and known throughout the United States as an orchestra leader, was fatally injured by an electric car while crossing the tracks in his automobile. He was hurled 125 feet by the concussion and was found in the top of his machine in an unconscious condition in which he remained until death came, twelve hours later at the hospital.

An eye-witness to the tragedy says Fitzgerald's machine stopped on the track when the car was about 300 feet from the crossing. He saw Fitzgerald attempt to start his machine, but the machine "went dead" and left the vehicle between the tracks.

Deal in Timber Lands.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 31.—A special from Hattiesburg, Miss., says: A deal was concluded by McPherson Bros., of Michigan, who sold to the McPherson Lumber company, of Hattiesburg, 2,170 acres of pine stumpage for $20,000, or $9.20 per acre. The McPherson mill at Folsom will be run full time to cut the timber.

"FEED THE BRUTE."

Man is Always Peevish Before He Has His Breakfast.

The usual advice given to young wives is to "feed the brute," and another warning is not to cross a man before he has breakfasted.

"From my experience," says the proprietor of a large restaurant which serves many breakfasts, "I have learned to avoid my male customers before breakfast. Somehow ladies are not so irritable at that hour of the day as are their husbands and brothers."

"Many of my customers are early risers, who call in on their way to business. If you met them in the afternoon they would strike you as being most companionable men, but before breakfast even I keep out of their way."

"They growl at the waiter, at the food, at the walter, at each other and even at themselves. It is amusing to watch the visible change as they get through breakfast."

"With ladies it's quite different. They are not nearly so numerous as are the men, but they are much more amiable. I sometimes wonder if it is because they wake up less hungry. But as to that I can only guess."

"The fact remains, however, that man before he has broken his fast is usually a disagreeable sort of animal."

ORIGIN OF "EGYPT."

How the Name Came to Be Applied to Southern Illinois.

The year 1824 was very wet. Heavy rains fell frequently. Corn on flatlands was a total failure. This year the weevil destroyed the wheat after it was harvested. The next year, 1825, there was a remarkable growth of thistles on the branch bottoms. The winter of 1830-1 was known as the winter of deep snow. The snow was of a depth of from two and a half to three feet on a level. It drifted much and was very destructive to fruit trees. The weather was intensely hot. Both in 1831 and 1832 the early frosts so injured the corn as to entirely render it worthless for almost any purpose.

During the years between and including 1824-32, so nearly corresponding to the years of famine in the days of Pharaoh and his ruler, as he made Joseph to be, the people of Illinois, depended upon the southern part of the state for so much grain, particularly corn, that people in remembrance of the Bible story began to call the part of the state which had been so helpful in time of need Egypt—Albion Journal.

They Own the Soft Impeachment.

In an address to the Canadian club in Montreal, Mr. James Bryce said: "I do not think it would be advisable for me to say much, for I have the good fortune to be a Scotchman myself. I won't pursue the theme of what contributions Scotchmen should be able to make to Canada's literature and science, for the very simple reason which was given by a friend of mine, who said, 'I never argue with Scotchmen that they are a great nation—they admit it.'"

Cost of Courtesy.

The adage "Courtesy costs nothing" would if true offer sufficient reason to insure its observance by practically every member of the commercial community. It being fairly obvious to most of us that courtesy is an excellent lubricant for the machinery in business. To be always courteous in business, however, requires a very considerable expenditure of mental effort, which very few of us are capable of sustaining at all times.—Magazine of Commerce.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON FIRE.

Occupied by Thos. Roebuck and Family Slightly Damaged.

West Orange streets was the scene of considerable excitement Sunday afternoon, when the roof of one of the Roebuck cottages, occupied by the Roebuck family, was discovered to be on fire. The family were all asleep, taking their afternoon nap, and were not aware of the fact that they were in danger until the time the department arrived.

The alarm was turned in from that cottage box, 28, from whence a false alarm is issued in the majority of cases, but the department responded with its usual admirable promptness, and in a few moments had the flames under control.

The damage to the house will amount to about $75, while furniture and other things will reach considerable, the living room and kitchen having been affected.

POINTS OUT DANGER IN USE OF "STERILIZED" COTTON.

Investigator Finds Microbes in Material Used For Surgical Purposes.

Startling results are announced of an examination made by the distinguished French savant, M. Nonnotte, of a large number of commercial brands of "aseptic" and "sterilized" cotton. Cultures were made from thirty packages of cotton purchased at random, and in every instance flourishing colonies of microbes were obtained. Two of the packages yielded typhoid bacilli.

In the preparation of cotton for surgical purposes the raw product is carded, washed in soda, bleached with hypochlorites and finally washed in diluted sulphuric acid. After each of these operations the cotton is washed in plain water, and during these baths are introduced the microbes discovered by M. Nonnotte.

Partly as a result of this investigation physicians are turning to the use of the absorbent linen surgical dressing known as "oxolint." This is not only free from the microbic dangers of cotton, but is also more cooling and more absorbent. Physicians and hospitals are now ordering "oxolint" by the ton from the North Brookfield (Mass.) mills where it is manufactured.

The Scientific American in commenting on M. Nonnotte's investigation says, "These results prove that it is unsafe to apply commercial absorbent cotton to wounds or in oedema, erythema and other inflamed conditions of the skin."

HAVE YOU BEAUTIFUL HAIR? IF NOT, WHY NOT?

Perhaps you've read the short story that has been published of late in all the papers about Miss Tillie Root of Webster, N. C., who has such beautiful hair that none other in Webster can compare with it.

At one time Miss Root had faded, harsh and falling hair, but as she says herself, after using two bottles of Parisian Sage she now has the finest head of hair in town.

Parisian Sage will make any woman's hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant, and it is such a delightful hair dressing, that once used it is always preferred.

Parisian Sage is the most invigorating antiseptic hair restorer known to mankind. It is guaranteed, rigidly guaranteed, to cure dandruff in two weeks, to stop falling hair or itching scalp, or money back.

It is a highly satisfactory dressing for summer use, because it drives away all disagreeable odors, and leaves the scalp cool and clean.

W. M. Johnson, the druggist, sells it, and guarantees it. Price is only 50 cents for a large bottle. Ask him about it, or you can buy it direct at the same price, express charges prepaid, from Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

S.S.S. CONTAINS NO MERCURY

Medicines containing Mercury are often given to persons suffering with Contagious Blood Poison, and so powerful is the action of this drug that it frequently removes the symptoms in a short while, and shuts the disease up in the system to do greater damage to the delicate internal members. When, however, the treatment is left off, the disease always returns, and the patient finds that his health has been injured by this powerful mineral, and he is often left with weak stomach, disturbed digestion, mercurial rheumatism, etc. The action of S. S. S. is entirely different. It contains no Mercury, nor any other harmful drug, but is made entirely of healing, cleansing roots and herbs. It cures Contagious Blood Poison by removing the virus from the blood. It searches out every particle of the poison and does not leave the least trace for future outbreaks. S. S. S., in addition to curing the disease, builds up and strengthens every part of the body. Its fine tonic effects tone up the stomach and digestion, improve the appetite and regulate the entire system. Home treatment book containing valuable information about the different stages of the disease and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

The Pensacola Journal has collected and forwarded $150 to the treasurer of the National Democratic campaign fund. This is a good beginning.

Florida's own Frank Clark is doing great work, not only for the Democratic Congressional Committee, but for Florida. Every time he has an opportunity he insists upon talking about what a "good place Florida is to live in."—Pensacola Journal.

Application is being made for a saloon license at Perry, in Taylor county. The county has never voted on the liquor question and the "His X Mark" fellows have petitioned for a license. Some of the best people of the place will fight the granting of the permit.

Judge Malone has ordered the Democratic committee of the third Congressional district to reconvene on September 10th and canvass the vote according to the face of the returns. This will give Mays the nomination over Kehoe by 59 votes, but the latter will appeal to the supreme court.

We have yet to hear of a Bryan and Kern club being organized in Alachua county. The Democrats of Old Alachua do not appear to manifest much interest in politics since the primary, but when Bryan is elected it is dollars to doughnuts that the very fellows who did the least to bring about the result will "manifest" the most interest in obtaining the offices.

Through the efforts of Capt. T. J. McRae you will observe the Sun's contribution to the Bryan and Kern campaign fund now amounts to $56.50, this gentleman having collected and turned over to us $31.50 of the total. If a few more Democrats would manifest the interest Capt. McRae has shown in the cause Alachua's contribution to the fund would reflect credit upon the Democracy of the county. Get to work and help the cause.

The Arcadia News says: "Help your children to do their best at school. How? Have them on time. Encourage them to be polite, studious, and kind. Arrange home duties so as to help and not hinder the school work. Soon the time for school will be passed. Better take advantage of the opportunity a great State offers to every boy and girl. Talk up the school. Try to help create a school atmosphere that will make strong men and noble women. A school is helped or hindered by the general, social and moral conditions outside. Make it the great common community interest to unite all."

Hon. John G. Dampier, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of Alachua county, has added his mite towards assisting in the election of Bryan and Kern, making the liberal contribution of $5 to The Sun's campaign fund. Mr. Dampier is a man who believes in "doing things," and in the dark days of Republican control was one of the hardest workers to wrest the county and State from the hands of the black phalanx. Others should follow Mr. Dampier's example and send us at least five dollars for the cause. Every cent will be needed, and more too. Don't send less than a dollar.

SEPARATION OF THE AGED.

"Whom God has joined together, let no man put asunder." That is a beautiful sentiment. You can see Mrs. James A. Roberts as a bride, and James A. Roberts, her husband, young, ambitious, happy. There is hand-shaking, kisses, good will; and so the young folks start on the trip through life together.

That was over fifty years ago. There must have been real love and trust, for at the end of a half century of married life they are still lovers. They have not prospered financially, although they have worked hard and well. They are now inmates of the Soldiers' Home in Jacksonville. The editor of this paper has known and esteemed them for twenty years. Eighteen years ago in Sumterville, then in Tampa and then in Punta Gorda, striving to make an honorable living. They have made friends everywhere they have lived. They are good, honest, Christian people. They have been readers of The Tribune from its first issue, and now write: "Send us The Tribune. We cannot get along without it."

Surely there should be a cheerful corner in that great building where an old husband and an old wife could end their days in comradeship. Surely there should be a neat little room, with easy chairs and some pictures, and a snowy white bed and a pot of flowers in the window.

No. The rules of infirmaries of this country, almost without exception, have little to do with sentiment. They are political institutions.

The very food the inmates eat is measured, and the central idea is to make a record for economy. The difference between a home and a Soldier's Home is as wide as the range of human thought.

So Capt. J. A. Roberts and his wife, after fifty years of married life, agreed to separate—he to go to the men's department, she to the woman's.

It hurt; of course, it hurt. And it doesn't seem fair, and you know that the rule that caused the separation is a harsh rule. But it is the way that infirmaries are conducted.

"Whom God has joined together, let no man put asunder."

It doesn't mean much, does it?—Tampa Tribune.

"ENOUGH" IS FATAL.

Out of the beginnings of philosophy there came this bit of truth: "If you say you have enough, you perish. Always add, always walk, always proceed."

No author of the present day writing anything that digs deeper into the "why of things" than does that thought.

The people who have ceased to "add, walk and proceed" have ceased to be useful to society.

The merchant who is satisfied is doomed. The merchant who believes that his business is big enough, useful enough, important enough, is out of the race.

In all lines of business there must be, of necessity, the ceaseless adding, walking, proceeding—the reaching, pushing, shoving, pulling, pressing for greater usefulness to the community. These things presage growth—they are growth.

Under modern conditions this striving and struggling would be of little avail if it were not for advertising—which makes striving and struggling worth while, and effective.

The advertiser who says "enough," who thinks he is striving sufficiently, has really ceased to strive at all. "Enough" is a delusion.

THE EDITOR'S PRAYER.

The following is going the rounds of the press without credit:

"I would flee from the city's rule and law—from its fashions and forms cut loose—and grow where the strawberry grows on its straw, and the gooseberry grows on its goose; where the catnip tree is climbed by the cat as she clutches for her prey, the guileless and unsuspecting rat, on the rattan bush at play; I will watch at ease the saffron cow and the cowlet in their glee, as they peal in joy from bough to bough on the top of a cowslip tree; and last while the partridge drums his drum, and the woodchuck chucks his wood, and the dog devours his dogwood in the primitive solitude. O, let me drink from the moss-grown pump that was hewn from a pumpkin tree; eat mush and milk from a rural stump, from form and fashion free—new garnered mirth from the mushroom vine, and milk from the milkweed sweet—with luscious pineapples from the wine; such food as the gods might eat! And then to the whitewashed dairy I'll turn, where the dairymaid hastening hies, her ruddy and gold-red butter to churn from the milk of butterflies; and I'll rise at morn with the earliest bird, to the fragrant farm-yard pass, and watch while the farmer turns his herd of grasshoppers out to grass."

An Inducement.

"Is there anything I can do," cried an exasperated west side mother, "to induce you to go to bed?"

"Yep," responded the small boy promptly.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease.

While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

FLORIDA NEWS..

The board of trade of Live Oak is trying to get better freight rates into and out of that city. The prospects at present are very bright for a readjustment of rates.

At a called meeting of the board of trade of Live Oak it was decided to run a free excursion into Live Oak from the Live Oak, Perry and Gulf, and Florida. They expect to have about 1,500 or 2,000 people visit them.

Mamie Hines, a negro woman living in Jacksonville, assisted Thomas Sharpe, a negro prisoner, to escape from the city jail. For her troubles she was given thirty days in the city jail also. The woman claims that Sharpe was her sweetheart.

Interest was at fever heat Monday in Daytona, when the election was held to decide whether the city should issue $50,000 bonds for the purpose of constructing a waterworks plant, or have it for some private corporation to build and maintain. The vote polled was 57 for bonding to 27 against it.

The German tramp steamer "Aureole" New Castle, went on the rocks near Fowey Rock lighthouse, a little below Miami, Friday morning. She carries a full cargo of creosote in bulk. If the weather remains good there is little danger of damage either to the vessel or the cargo. The captain will pump out sufficient of its cargo to float the ship at high tide.

Ching Hong, an aged Chinaman who has resided in Jacksonville for many years, passed into a better world on August 23rd. He left $4,800 in ready cash tucked away in a savings bank, and his laundry business, valued at $150. His brother, who is his sole heir to this small fortune, has had the body embalmed and will ship same to their native country, as is the custom of the Chinese whenever their means will allow them.

W. M. Hill, a resident of West Palm Beach, while riding a bicycle on one of the city's streets, met with a painful accident Monday. By the jarring of the bicycle the lamp became loosened and got caught in the spokes of his front wheel, tearing them nearly all out and throwing Mr. Hill over the handle-bars, his whole weight coming down on his face, which is nearly knocked off. His forehead is skinned and the bridge of his nose was so badly knocked in and the bone so broken that pieces of the latter had to be taken out and the skin stitched up. His upper lip also needed a few stitches, one cheek was badly cut and his chin came in for its share.

WAS DELIRIOUS WITH ECZEMA

On Chest, Back, and Head—Pain, Heat, and Tingling Were Excruciating—Nerves in Exhausted Condition—Sleep Badly Broken.

CURE BY CUTICURA SEEMED LIKE MAGIC

"Words cannot express the gratitude I feel for what Cuticura Remedies have done for my daughter, Adelaide. She is fifteen years of age, and had never had anything the matter with her skin until four months ago, when an eruption broke out on her chest. The first symptom was a redness, and then followed thickening and blisters, which would break and run matter. I took her to a doctor, and he pronounced it to be eczema of a very bad form. He treated her, but instead of being checked, the disease spread. It showed itself on her back, and then quickly spread upwards until the whole of her head was affected, and all her hair had to be cut off. The pain she suffered was excruciating, and what with that and the heat and tingling her life was almost unbearable. She became run down in health, and at times was very feverish, languid, and drowsy, and occasionally she was delirious. Her nerves were in such a low state that she could not bear to be left alone. In spite of the cold weather she would insist on having her bedroom window open, and would lean out on the window-sill. She did not have a proper hour's sleep for many nights. The second doctor we tried afforded her just as little relief as the first, and I really do not know what we should have done if we had not read how Cuticura cured a similar case. I purchased Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills, and before the Ointment was three-quarters finished every trace of the disease was gone. It really seemed like magic. Her hair is coming on nicely, and I still apply the Cuticura Ointment as I find it increases the growth wonderfully. Mrs. T. W. Hyde, 1, Ongar Place, Brentwood, Essex, England, Mar. 8, 1907."

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

Holder Bill Passes the House by a Vote of 99 to 58.

Atlanta, Aug. 31.—The convict bill of Representative Holder of Jackson, which passed the house at the regular session of the general assembly, was again adopted in somewhat amended form by that body on Friday by a vote of 99 to 58.

The house began the consideration of the measure by sections on last Thursday, the third day of the extra session. Before adjournment it had adopted eight sections. Now the additional sections have been completed. The house finished its work within the time in which it could have acted.

This was the only measure before the body. From the opening day the line-up was noticeable, but there was never any doubt from the beginning of the success of the Holder measure.

The Holder Provisions.

The Holder bill provides that upon the expiration of the present lease system on Feb. 31, 1909, the foundation of a fund shall be begun which will be used for working all the felony and misdemeanor convicts of the state on the public roads.

Counties and municipalities will have the privilege of using them for this purpose, beginning April 1, 1909, the remainder to be leased out to individuals until Dec. 31, 1911. After the latter date no convicts whatever shall be leased to private parties.

The measure now goes to the upper house.

New Turn to Discussion.

A unique turn was given to the discussion on the disposition of Georgia's convicts when a bill signed by twenty-three senators—a majority of that body—was introduced in the senate Friday.

This bill is a composite bill, and embraces the features of all the measures so far introduced except the Holder bill.

This bill covers a wide range of subjects all bearing upon the question of maintaining and working the state's convicts.

It proposes to abolish the prison commission and substitute therefor a prison board, to be composed of the governor, attorney general and commissioner of agriculture.

An income tax of one-half of one mill on the dollar on all persons and corporations and a tax of $200 per annum on near beer are also provided to raise revenue to carry out the provisions of this law. The convicts are to be worked on the public highways and other public works.

GROOM 65; BRIDE 15.

December and April Joined in Wedlock at Rome, Ga.

Rome, Ga., Aug. 31.—December and April were joined in wedlock here this week, when Mack Nelson, aged sixty-five, and a well known farmer of this county, was married to Miss Anna Hardy, a fifteen-year-old girl, whom he had known but two days, and whom he met by accident.

Mr. Nelson's wife, who had been his lifelong companion, died last December, and he afterwards sold his farm, living in a little cottage on Route 10. A few days ago he was at home when Miss Hardy, in company with some other girls, walked by on their way from their home in Aragon to Rome. The girls stopped for a drink of water, and Mr. Nelson was impressed with Miss Hardy's looks. The acquaintance thus romantically begun, ripened into love, and on Tuesday they were married and are now living at their home near Rome.

Fatal Fight with Car Thieves.

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 31.—News was brought to the city by an Atlantic Coast Line crew of the fatal shooting of a white man named Litchfield and a negro named Joseph Francis and the wounding of Town Marshal Solomon at Yemassee, S. C., by two negro car thieves. For some time the thieves had been at work. They were discovered at the edge of the town in a strip of woods, and the town marshal formed a posse to arrest them. The attempt resulted in the shooting. Litchfield died two hours after being shot. The negro was instantly killed.

Is the amount of money we have loaned since we opened for business. We have not lost one cent on a bad loan, and have no paper on hand now that could be considered even doubtful. A bank is no safer than its loans, therefore we are very cautious about this feature of our business. If you apply to us for a loan and it is not granted, do not fall out with us; we are using our best judgment for the protection of our depositors, and we think our depositors come before our borrowers in a matter of this nature.

Forest of Stone in Australia.

In Albany, in Australia, is to be seen a stone forest—in other words, petrified trees. The trees are of a gray stone.

It is suggested as an explanation of the strange phenomenon that in the depths of past ages the forest was in full vegetation and then through some upheaval of the earth it was buried in sand. Little by little water acting on the sand penetrated the branches and solidified.

The wood gradually disappeared under the layer of stone and in time took its form. Then in succeeding years the winds again carried away the sand and the forest appeared anew, but of stone.—London Globe.

A Legal Thrust.

"The learned counsel for the defense," said the plaintiff's attorney, "appears to be afraid of losing his case. Otherwise why isn't he ready to go on?"

"I've got a good excuse," replied counsel for the defense.

"Nonsense! Ignorance of the law excuses no one."—Philadelphia Press.

"Yes, and typically American," responded the western visitor. "Hanging to a strap."—Washington Herald.

Superintendent of Rock Island System Carries Out Edict.

Little Rock, Ark. Aug. 31.—Carrying out his edict that all employees caught smoking cigarettes will be discharged, Superintendent Easley, of the Rock Island system, has dismissed an engineer and brakeman.

The discharged employees have referred their grievance to the Brotherhoods of Engineers and Trainmen.

It is said these organizations will carry the matter to the head officials of the railroad in Chicago, claiming a violation of the personal liberty clause in their contract.

Trainmen here say there will be a general strike unless the men are reinstated and the order rescinded.

ROBBERS GET $12,000.

Masked Men Held Up Cashier of Bank in Canada.

Montreal, Aug. 31.—Five masked men dynamited the safe of the Provincial bank at St. Eustache, 10 miles from Montreal and secured $12,000 early Saturday. They held up the cashier and kept a posse of citizens at bay with revolvers and made good their escape to Montreal.

Two arrests have been made on suspicion.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 31.—Jim Kennedy must go to the penitentiary for ninety-nine years for burning up the house in which perished his wife, his own child and three children of his father-in-law, several weeks ago. He will now be tried for murdering those who perished. It will be remembered that because he was mad at his wife Kennedy set fire to the house in which she was staying late one Sunday night, burning five persons to death. The negroes were very indignant and wanted to lynch him.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them remedies of known composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny. Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, his famous medicine for weak stomach, biliousness and all catarrhal diseases, wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native medicinal plants was gained from the Indians. As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about perfect states of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

Is Oratory a Drawback?

The great orators have not been the most fortunate aspirants for the presidency. Webster, Clay, Douglas and Blaine were idolized by their followers, not only for their abilities and personal traits, but also for their persuasive powers of speech. Horace Greeley, candidate of the Democrats and Liberal Republicans in 1872, was not a notable orator, but was none the less an effective talker. He made a speaking tour in the latter part of the campaign, and, although his position was an anomalous one, he acquitted himself with credit, even if he was overwhelmingly defeated. Tilden, who in his free soil days made speeches, obtained his mastery by his pen, not by his tongue. Grant, who was called the silent man because he could not make a speech when he first became a candidate, learned to speak very well in public, his speech for Garfield in 1880 being a good example of his development in that direction.—Boston Globe.

"Balderdash!"

An illustration of the manners of critics in bygone days is furnished by a scathing notice once printed concerning a volume of Browning's poems. It was an early volume, and Browning was delighted to receive a letter from J. S. Mill proposing to write a notice of them in the Westminster Review. A few days later his expectations were dashed by hearing from Mr. Mill that he could not write the article, as he had been forestalled by a notice which had appeared in the Westminster Review itself. With a palpitating heart Browning rushed to his club and searched the pages of the Westminster Review, to find, to his dismay, the article which had robbed him of Mr. Mill's notice. It was to this effect: "A volume of poems by Browning—balderdash!"

Oyster Shells as Medicine.

Ground oyster shells were given by the mediaeval doctors to children suffering from rickets and scrofula. Now it appears that they were right. The shells contain lime, nitrogen, iron, sulphur, manganese, magnesia, flour, bromide, phosphoric acid and iodine, all excellent for feeble children. They say that if growing children were to take powdered oyster shells in their food the teeth would be improved.—London Answers.

Why He Refused.

"Can I offer you a little more soup?" a lady asked her new paying guest.
"No, thanks," was the quick reply.
"I hope you are not refusing because it is considered bad form to take two helpings of soup. We are not sticklers for etiquette."
"Oh, it isn't etiquette that I was worrying about—it was the soup!"

Saved the Dishes.

Husband—But why did you dismiss the cook this morning, when the Higgins are coming to dinner tonight?
Wife—Because at 11 a. m. we had only exactly enough dishes left to set the table.—Judge.

He Knew.

"What do you expect to be when you come of age, my little man?" asked the visitor.
"Twenty-one," was the little man's reply.—Herald and IV.

The Barrel on the Sidewalk.
A barrel stood on the sidewalk, and beside it stood a man. The man was dressed in laborer's clothes and apparently was in a quandary about how to get the barrel to one of the upper floors. He scratched his head and pondered, and meanwhile a crowd began to gather.

"Rig up a derrick and hoist it by hand," suggested one man with a clay pipe in his mouth.

The man beside the barrel made no response.

"Get a rope and pulley and hitch a horse to the rope. That'll get the thing up in jig time," suggested another.

The man remained silent.

"Why in the dickens doesn't he put it on the temporary elevator and take it up that way?" asked the man with red whiskers.

"I know a better way than that," said the man with patches on his trousers. "Just rig up a boatswain's outfit, and the thing can be hauled up quick as a wink."

Suddenly the man beside the barrel took a red bandanna handkerchief from his pocket, wiped his forehead, took a chew of tobacco, put the barrel on his shoulder and carried it up to the second floor.

The barrel was empty.—Milwaukee Free Press.

Our Language Is So Explicit!

The tradesman had rendered his bill, waited a month and then wrote: "Please, sir, I want my bill."

Back came the bill with these words: "Certainly; here it is."

The bill was returned, and in a month the tradesman again wrote:

"Kindly send me the amount of my bill."

And the answer came promptly and politely:

"Certainly; it is $104.26."

The third month the tradesman again wrote:

"Will you send me a check for the amount of my bill?"

The answer came, with a blank, unsigned check:

"Certainly; here is the check. I have kept the amount of your bill."

The fourth month the tradesman wrote:

"I want my bill paid."

And the answer came back, "So do I."

Then the tradesman gave it up.—Ladies' Home Journal.

A Quaint English Ceremony.

On the last day of each October the city solicitor of London, with an assistant, attends upon the royal remembrancer, when by proclamation "the tenants and occupiers of a piece of waste ground called the moors, in the county of Salop," are commanded to "come forth and do your service upon pain and peril that shall fall thereon."

The solicitor chops in halves two fagots, one with a hatchet and the other with a billhook. Afterward comes the summons to the tenants, etc., of "a certain tenement with a forge" in the Strand and the payment of six horse-shoes, with sixty-one shoe nails, by the solicitor. This forge has long ceased to be, and the same shoes and nails are used year after year, the shoes being at least two centuries old.

Spell This.

Some of you who think you are well up in spelling just try to spell the words in this little sentence:

Read it over to your friends and see how many of them can spell every word correctly. The sentence contains some of the real puzzles of the spelling book.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivalled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. The Gaelic Language.

The old Gaelic language was spoken by all the branches of the great Celtic race, for, while a dialect of the Celtic language, it was so like the other Celtic dialects that no Celt would find difficulty in speaking it. Specifically, it was the speech of the Manxmen, Welsh, Scotch highlanders, Cornishmen, Bretons and many of the Irish. It is still spoken in some parts of Ireland, Wales, the highlands and the Isle of Man.—New York American.

FRIGHT IN MIDAIR

Up in a Balloon and Coming Down in a Parachute.

THE AGONY OF A FIRST TRIP

Experience and Sensations of an Aeronaut Who Took the Place of a Professional Aeronaut in an Emergency. The Dash Through Space.

I went up in a balloon and came down in a parachute. Something went wrong, and all the money in the world doubled would not induce me to make the experiment again.

I grew strangely accustomed to being as an acrobat, and when it was suggested that I should earn $25 many minutes by taking the place of a parachutist who had fallen ill at the last minute I jumped at the chance. It was at a large country fair. The laughing crowd had probably never seen a balloon go up. As the great bag gradually swelled a silence fell upon the onlookers.

The sick parachutist's manager patted me on the back and said it was money easily earned. I agreed—then. "Keep cool," he said, "and, whatever you do, don't look down except to judge your distance from the earth. See that tower? It is about a hundred yards away. When you are at distance up pull the check string and shut your eyes."

A dull murmur rose as the ropes were cut and I felt my feet leave the ground. The upward movement was gentle, and a great cheer came up to me until the band drowned it.

I hardly heard the cheering or the band. The involuntary murmur still rang in my ears. Perhaps my nerves were upset, possibly it was intuition, but from the moment I was drawn up from the ground I felt the conviction that grim trouble lay ahead.

Ignoring the oft repeated instructions, I looked down. How slowly the balloon went up! Could it be possible that I had not gone more than a hundred yards? The giant overhead became a living thing, intent on torturing the puny mortal who had trusted his life to it. I knew I dared not leap before I was high enough, for the parachute takes 100 feet sometimes to open.

I shut my eyes and tried to count to ten, but the figures became jumbled, and I looked down again. A shadow skimmed past underneath. Far below there was a sea of upturned faces, and the music floated up distinctly. The balloon seemed to have stopped rising, and for an eternity I tried to gauge the height.

Again the band stopped, and I was in a silent world. The crowd of breathless specks far beneath was getting full value for its money. The only noise I heard was the beating of the blood through my head. I was afraid. It was the first real fear I had ever felt in my work.

When the supreme moment came I pulled the string without realizing what I was doing.

What years I lived in those next few seconds. An appalling nausea and a wild desire to live came with the first terrible rush, and my heart stood still as I looked eagerly aloft. The ropes of the parachute had twisted, and I was falling to instant death.

Grasping the ropes in a clutch of steel, I shook them frantically. Half the huge parachute belled out with a noise like a pistol shot, and the speed of the fall was lessened with a jar.

Again I shook the death trap. The ropes were sliding at a snail's pace, and bit by bit the parachute was opening. Still I fell far too fast. I could not breathe, and my hands seemed to be refusing to hold on.

Bang! The last fold had opened out, and I was saved. Dizzy and numb with fear, I held on tightly, wondering whether I should faint before I reached the ground. That, and that only, was my thought as I sailed through the space. I had almost lost consciousness when my feet touched the ground gently. And then I collapsed.—Buffalo Times.

A Drawback.

"My" exclaimed little Billy as he gazed at the lithograph. "I'd like to be a griffin. Just think how easily you could 'rubber' over the baseball game."

"That's all right," replied Tommy. "But there is another time when you wouldn't want to have a neck like a griffin."

"When is that?"

"In the mornings when your neck begins to scrub your neck with soap and water."—Chicago News.

Objections.

"I don't see why Goodley should be suspended with you all. He never makes a mistake of any one."

"He's not one of those very smug fellows who can say 'Oh, yes, Jones was very happy when I saw him last,' and say it in such a way as to give the impression that Jones was 'happy drunk.'"—Philadelphia Press.

A Greater Wonder.

An inspector was examining a very youthful class of Scotch boys, and among other subjects he requested the teacher to ask her pupils a few questions in nature knowledge. Desiring her class to do her honor, she decided upon the simple subject, "Chickens."

"Now, children," she said, "I want you to tell me something very wonderful about chickens."

"How they get out of their shells," promptly responded one little fellow.

"Well," said the teacher, "that is of course wonderful, but I mean something more wonderful still."

There was a silence for a few seconds. Then up spoke little Johnny. "Please, ma'am, it's mair wonderful hoo they ever got intae their shells."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Ready For the Dollar.

Marjorie, aged nine, had not been having very satisfactory reports from school. Her father finally said, "Marjorie, for the first hundred you get I'll give you a dollar." Time went on, and the reward could not be claimed. One day the child was taken violently ill. Her mother sent for the doctor. When he had gone Marjorie said, "Mamma, am I very ill?"

"No, dear; your temperature is a little over a hundred, but the doctor thinks you will be all right in a day or so."

Smiles broke through Marjorie's tears.

"Now, mamma, I can have my dollar. Papa said he would give it to me if I could get a hundred in anything."—Delineator.

Woman's Way.

When a man goes out to buy a collar he comes back with a collar and perhaps a necktie or two. When a woman starts out to buy a collar she returns exhausted with a new silk waist, a pair of gloves, some skirt binding, a cake of soap, a paper of pins, some window curtains, a sewing machine and a refrigerator.—Mark Twain.

Realism.

"Advertisements on the scenery!" exclaimed the star. "That's carrying commercialism really too far."

"It isn't commercialism," exclaimed the manager. "We want the scene to look like a real meadow, don't we?"—London Tit-Bits.

Anxious.

"I feel uneasy about my money."
"Why, I didn't know you had any."
"I haven't. That's the reason I feel uneasy."—Nashville American.

If it's printed stationery you want, The Sun office is the place to get it.

EVERY NON-PROGRESSIVE MERCHANT BECOMES

Your Competitor

When You Cease to Advertise Aggressively

WHEN a merchant "slows up" in his advertising, and concludes to "save a little money" in that direction, then the merchant who never had the courage and foresight to advertise adequately BECOMES A REAL COMPETITOR. Even the merchant who never advertises at all reaps a certain amount of profit from the "slowing up" process of the live store.

Not many merchants, of course, who have at any time set the pace for progressive advertising, will be content to take a backward plunge into the company of the non-progressives, of the LITTLE MERCHANTS, the easily satisfied ones, the un-awakes! But that is just what the "live one" does when he imagines that his advertising is costing too much, and that its curtailment means "saving."

If business conditions ever suggest retrenchment in advertising, the wise merchant knows that this should be interpreted as a signal for "full speed ahead," for redoubled efforts to WIN the business that does not come so easily as usual.
